DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-23 are pending in the instant application.

Priority

This application is a National Stage entry of PCT/US04/40709 filed on 3 December 2004 and claims priority to U.S. provisional application no. 60/527,082 filed on 3 December 2003, U.S. provisional application no. 60/539,387 filed on 26 January 2004, U.S. provisional application no. 60/592,744 filed on 29 July 2004, U.S. provisional application no. 60/614,518 filed on 29 September 2004 and U.S. provisional application no. 60/623,387 filed on 29 October 2004.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

- I. Group I, claim(s) 1-12 and 23, drawn to a follicle stimulating hormone peptide as indicated in claim 1.
- II. Group II, claim(s) 13-20, drawn to a method of making a follicle stimulating hormone peptide conjugate comprising the moiety as indicated in claim 13.

III. Group III, claim(s) 21 and 22, drawn to a method of stimulating ovarian follicles in a mammal and treating a condition characterized by reproductive infertility.

The inventions listed as Groups I-III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features.

An international application should relate to only one invention or, if there is more than one invention, the inclusion of those inventions in one international application is permitted if all inventions are so linked as to form a single general inventive concept (PCT Rule 13.1). With respect to a group of inventions claimed in an international application, unity of invention exists only when there is a technical relationship among the claimed inventions involving one or more of the same or corresponding special technical features.

The expression "special technical features" is defined in PCT Rule 13.2 as meaning those technical features that define a contribution which each of the inventions, considered as a whole, makes over the prior art. The determination is made on the contents of the claims as interpreted in light of the description and drawings (if any). Whether or not any particular technical feature makes a "contribution" over the prior art, and therefore constitutes a "special technical feature," should be considered with respect to novelty and inventive step.

The common technical feature in all groups is the structure shown below:

This element cannot be a special technical feature under PCT Rule 13.2 because the element is shown in the prior art.

In this case, WIPO publication WO 03/031464 A2 to DeFrees et al. (please see PG Pub No. US 2007/0042458 A1 for equivalent, PTO-892) teach a glycoPEG-ylated compound, such as albumin-PEG-SA-EPO, wherein EPO represents erythropoietin and SA represents sialic acid, which can be used in a method for extending the blood-circulation half-life of selected peptide (p. 149, Scheme 3 and lines 1-10 of WIPO; paragraph 0643 of PG Pub). Additionally, figure 34 discloses schemes for the modification of the glycan structure on follicle stimulating hormone (paragraph 0219 of PG Pub). The modifying group attached to sialic acid occurs at either the 9-position on the pyruvyl side chain or at the 5-position on the amine moiety of sialic acid (p. 150, lines 5-11 of WIPO; paragraph 0647 of PG Pub). Modifying groups include water-soluble polymers, such as poly(ethylene glycol) (p. 152, lines 7-25 of WIPO; paragraphs 0655-0657 of PG Pub).

As a result, no special technical features exist among the different groups because the inventions in Groups I-III fail to make a contribution over the prior art with respect to novelty and inventive step. In conclusion, there is a lack of unity of inventions, and therefore restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single disclosed species for a follicle stimulating hormone peptide to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The requirement includes electing a structure for L-R¹. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The following claim(s) are generic: claims 1, 27, 31 and 34.

Due to the complexity of the above set forth election/restriction requirements, a telephone call was not made to the applicant's agent to request an oral election. See MPEP § 812.01.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.
